President Harrison returned from Deer Park Wednesday, and will probably go back to the hill top Saturday for a long vacation. Even the few days visit from which he has returned seems to have im mensely benefitted him, bringing s bronze tinge to his generally pallid face. During the two or three weeks vacation which he will take, any necessary business will be transacted at Deer Park. It has not been decided whether or not official announcements of matters decided upon by the President will be made from Washington or from Deer Park The probabilities are that the appointments at least will be announce ed from the White House. This visit, together with the promised stay at Bar Harbor as the guest of Secretary Blaine, will likely consti w ight, alum or phosphate powders. Sold only in caus. Such of the candilates for the Speakership of the next House as come here from time to time and talk with the President, express themselves as confident of an early extra session. Judge Perkins, who is just at present the only candidate in town, says that from conversation with General Harrison he believes that the session will be called for tie early part of October. He thinks that very little time will be consumed in organizing the House. He differs from nearly all Congressmen who have been interviewed on the subject in anticipating only a short fight over the rules. He believes that the extra session wilhave some time to devote to the tariff, as well as to discuss a national election law. The contested election over, will not in his opinion, receive immediate attention.

"Pretty child; what's the boy's name?" I asked the father, carelessly. "Grover," he replies. "Just Grover; no middle name," I enquired. "No middle name" puts in the mother, "Only Grover, it is an old family name, my grandfather Baker's name."

I knew her grandfather Baker and his name was Cyrus, though he was not great. And I remember also, when the child was baptised during the opening of the last adchurch register is "Grover Cleveland s." Jack the Ripper.

It is probably save to say that no

topic engrosses so large a share of public attention, even in so remote a city as San Francisco, as the performances of Jack the Ripper in London. This arises not only from the conviction that the assassin is not a common murderer impelled by ravenge or thirst of gain, but like wise from the am zement roused by the impecility of the London police, Rightly or wrongly the American and French police believe that if Jack the Ripper had committed his fever sores, tester, chapped hands, crimes in Paris or New York he chilblain, corns and all skin erup. Perhaps it might be well for our citizens, before they indulge to loudly in invidious comparisons, to foot up the roll of undiscovered murderers in this country. A few things have been evident from the first Jack the Ripper must have some know ledge of anatomy. It has been sug gested that his deeds imply no closer acquaintance with the human frame than is possessed by a smart butcher But this is an error. There is a general resemblance between the

No butcher possesses the thorough acquaintance with the vital organs, which has enabled the English murderer to take life without a groan or a cry from his victim. A review of the murders already committed implies so unerring hand and so quick an eye that one is forced to the conclusion that the murderer must be a surgeon, or at least a medical student. Next it is almost certain that the murderer is naming his boy Roscoe Conkling, Yuma and Prescott find a place, and ex-Secretary William C. The Hostetter Homach Bitter People

In the United States Circuit Court for the Southern District of New York, Julee Shipman hadded anded down an opinion a few days ago in the suit of the owners of the trade marks covering Hostetter's Stomach Bitters against Arnold Theller and Cornell Theller, the compounders located on Vesey street, New York City, in which it was deceided that al hough the defendants made use of their own names on the labels affixed to the bottles containing bitters prepared by them, yet as they were evidently designed to imitate the Hostetter labels, they were infringers, and a perpetual injunction was granted and an accounting of damages ordered, together with the cost of the suit. It is the evident intention of the Hostetter people to protect their valuable trade mark against all infringers.
